

Policy and Procedures Regarding Reasonable Adjustments and Support for Disabled Students

TBLS is committed to providing an inclusive environment which enables all students to achieve their potential. Together with local specialists and the University of Liverpool's Disability Support Team, a wide range of provision is available to support disabled students to maximize their potential whilst studying at TBLS. TBLS achieves this outcome by adhering to the University's Policy and Procedures Regarding the Provision of Reasonable Adjustments for Disabled Students: For details of these policies students are referred to. <https://www.liverpool.ac.uk/student-support/disability/>

Any TBLS student or prospective student wishing to discuss their disability with TBLS should contact the TBLS Disability Support Officer (Dr. Derek O'Brien: Derek.O'brien@gov.ky) in the first instance who will advise them on the procedures to follow in order to have their disability recognized and appropriate reasonable adjustments made
